

Daisy Romero is a psychologist specializing in industrial and human resources. She has over 15 years of extensive experience in recruitment, staffing, assessments, talent management succession planning and organizational changes.

As part of her mandate she has delivered innovative solutions to different situations bringing her concise strategic analysis into play.

She holds a Bachelor's degree in industrial psychology, and two master's degrees from the University Pierre Mendes France in Grenoble. The master's degrees are in social and cognitive psychology applied to work groups and Labor and Occupational Psychology. She has also completed numerous courses from the prestigious universities of Montreal and she keeps herself up-to-date with new organizational trends.

Ms. Romero has a passion for management of cultural diversity in the workplace, development of talents, teamwork behaviors and leadership. Daisy Romero has also studied and has a keen interest in the contributions of Positive Psychology in the work place.

Before becoming a consultant with DNA, Ms. Romero has worked with both small and large organizations such as Emploi-Québec, the Department of Immigration and Cultural Communities (MICC), the Société de Transport de Montreal (STM). The School of Police of Quebec (ENPQ), The Accor corporation in France, the Eurobuilding hotels corporations and the corporation Gustavo Cisneros (ODC) in South America. She possesses excellent communication and interpersonal skills.

Ms. Romero speaks multiple languages such as English, French and Finnish and has a working knowledge of Portuguese and Finnish.